

A DOLLAR OR TWO.

With cautious step, as we tread our way through this intricate world as other folks do, May we still on our journey be able to view the benevolent face of a dollar or two.

For an excellent thing it is a dollar or two, No friend is so true As a dollar or two, Through country or town, As we pass up and down, No prospect so good As a dollar or two!

When you read yourself out of the bachelor crew, And the hand of a pretty young female sue, You must always be ready the handsome to do, Although it will cost you a dollar or two.

Love's arrows are tipped With a dollar or two, And affections are gained With a dollar or two, The best aid you can meet In advancing your suit, Is the eloquent check Of a dollar or two.

Would you wish your existence with faith to imbue And enroll in the ranks of the sanctified few, To enjoy a good name, a well-cushioned pew, You must freely come down with a dollar or two.

The gospel is preached For a dollar or two, For salvation is reached For a dollar or two, You may sin sometimes, But the worst of all crimes Is to find yourself short Of a dollar or two.

An amusing affair occurred not many years, at a fourth of July celebration in an interior town in Pennsylvania. Revolutionary veterans were becoming very hard to find, yet a procession with no old soldier in it was not to be willingly submitted to. An honest old German of Revolutionary repute was discovered at the last hour. An open carriage was assigned to him in the programme, and a seat at the president's right at the table. When pressed, after dinner to give his reminiscences of Washington, his recollections were found to be rather indefinite. But something being said about Yorktown, he remarked: "Yas, I vash at Yorktown. 'Under Washington?' asked the president. "Yas, I vash onder Washington venter surrendered. No! you mistake, my venerable friend, exclaimed the president, Washington never surrendered. "Yas, but you see, I vash one of de Hesians!"

One of the editors of the Presbyterian has been visiting Washington, and gives his opinion of the members of Congress, as follows. "My Congressional visits, thus far refreshed in my memory a very sensible remark of an old Dutch acquaintance, some years ago who once had the fortune (good or bad) to be elected a member of the Ohio Legislature. He said in his broken English style: 'Ven I went to de Lechlatur, I taut I vould find dem all Solomons dere; but I soon found dere vas soome as piek fools dere as I vas.'"

So far, so good; as the boy said when he finished the first pot of his mother's jam.

Gracious correction—The proper study of mankind is women.

Deep rivers move with silent majesty; shallow brooks are noisy.

Sorrow comes soon enough without despondency; it does a man no good to carry around a lightning rod to attract trouble.

Blessed is he that is ugly in form and features, for the girls shan't molest him.

Blessed is she that would get married but can't; for the consolations of the gospel are hers.

Blessed are the orphan children; for they have no mothers to spank them.

Blessed are they who expect nothing, for they shall not be disappointed.

Blessed are they who have no money; for they are not in any danger of being robbed.

Blessed is he who has a wooden leg; for he shall not be troubled with corns.

Blessed are they who are sick; for they need not work.

The boy who learned to ride upon a horse-radish is now practising on a saddle of mutton.—What an equestrian he will be in time.

A farmer going to get his grist ground at a mill, borrowed a bag of one of his neighbors. The old man was knocked under the water wheel, and the bag with him. He was drowned, and when the melancholy news was brought to his wife, she exclaimed—"My gracious what a fuss there will be about that bag."

"Bob is that dog of yours a pointer?"

"No. He's half hunter and half setter; he hunts for bones when he's hungry, and sets by the fire when he's satisfied."
